DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-8, drawn to JFET, classified in class 257, subclass 134.
- II. Claims 9-27, drawn to vertical FET, classified in class 257, subclass 329.
- III. Claim 28, drawn to a termination region in a power semiconductor die, classified in class 257, subclass 782.
- IV. Claims 19-37, drawn to a method of forming a structure, classified in class 438, subclass 212.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions have different modes of operation: the first by utilizing a PN junction to modulate their associated junction depletion characteristics to allow or impede the lateral flow of current in the channel and the second by applying a threshold voltage to invert a channel region to control channel conduction and flow of vertical current from source to drain.

Inventions I,II and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01).).

Art Unit: 2826

In the instant case, said termination region a specifically allocated region for the termination of a die that might include different types of elements while the first two are operational semiconductor switches specifically used to allow and block the flow of currents based of field effect applications.

Inventions IV and I, II, III are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the process of filling said bottom portion of the trenches could have preceded the process of forming dielectric spacers on the trench walls.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Fetsum Abraham whose telephone number is: 571-272-1911. The examiner can normally be reached on 8:00 - 18:00.
